

I believe that the ARRL has the right plan for the future. We need only three levels of amateur's and there proposal is the best. Morse Code will still survive and be used by those who wish to use it.